Background Information

The 'Intervention measures to mitigate the effects of the SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) infectious disease epidemic on citizens and the economy Act (ZIUZEOP)', in force since 11 April 2020, cushions the negative consequences of the Covid-19 epidemic exempting companies from paying pension and disability insurance in April and May 2020 (Article 33). Not included are organizations with more than 70% of their income from the public budget as well as financial and insurance sector.

Content of measure

All companies (not included are organizations with more than 70% of their income from the public budget as well as financial and insurance sector) are exempted from paying pension and disability insurance in April and May 2020. More in detail, the State agreed to pay pension and disability insurance until to a threshold corresponding to the contribution due for a salary equal to three times the minimum monthly wages. According to the instruction from Financial Administration, employers have to pay the difference. In return, the law compels employers to pay to their employees € 200/month if the worker's pay is below three minimum monthly wages. So-called 'crisis bonus' is exempted from all taxes and social security contributions.

Use of measure

The measure addresses all insured persons with salaries below three minimum monthly wages. Publicly-financed organizations (receiving more than 70% of their income from public funds) cannot claim exemption from paying pension and disability insurance. The same holds for companies and organization in the finance and insurance sector. It is a temporary measure for the period of the Covid-19 epidemic.
