Background Information

After the Government of the Republic of Lithuania declared an emergency situation and quarantine, many companies and self-employed persons had to discontinue or partially restrict their activities. In such a situation, a number of businesses do not have the opportunity not only to pay salaries to employees, but are also unable to pay social insurance contributions and other taxes. On 17 March 2020, Law No. XIII-2812 amending Article 88 of Law No. IX-2112 on Tax Administration of the Republic of Lithuania was adopted to increase the ability of taxpayers with temporary financial difficulties to stabilise their financial situation through deferral or arrangement of tax arrear payments.

Content of measure

Taking into account the restrictions/prohibitions on activities set up during quarantine, the State Tax Inspectorate has announced economic activities in which taxpayers may have suffered a direct negative impact as a result of the reason above and has published a list of specific taxpayers to whom the following assistance measures will automatically apply: non-recovery of declared taxes (other than customs duties), exemption from the payment of default interest and no interest accruing on concluded tax loan agreements. These taxpayers are subject to analogous measures to facilitate the payment of state social insurance contributions. This principle shall apply to taxes that are due after 16 March 2020 (i.e. after the declaration of quarantine) until the state of emergency is lifted.
