Case created	16 April 2020 (updated 01 May 2020)

Background information

Under government decrees 108/2020 (banks) and 109/2020 (retail), large companies in these two sectors must pay a mandatory contribution to the country's COVID-19 defence efforts. The contributions will be paid in three equal parts in June, September and December 2020 using the companies' deductible tax base from 2019 to calculate the amount of their contribution in different rate bands. The COVID Defence Fund's planned expenditures are listed in govt decree 92/2020.

Content of measure

In the retail sector, no contribution must be paid below a tax base of HUF 500 million (€1.40 million). From a tax base of HUF 500 million to – 30 billion (€84.5 million) the contribution is 0.1%, from HUF 30 billion to 100 billion (€281.5 million) it is 0.4% and above HUF 100 billion it is 2.5%.

For banks the contribution is 0.19% of the tax base if it was above HUF 50 billion in 2019.

The pandemic contribution can be deducted from tax gradually over five years after the state of emergency is lifted. Retailers can ask for an exemption if their revenues fall by more than 40%.

The government expects to collect HUF 55 billion (€155 million) from the financial sector and HUF 36 billion (€101 million) from the retail sector.

Use of measure

The government has said it would use the COVID Defence Fund adding up to HUF 533 billion (€1.52m) in total, including other state sources, for procurement of supplies and investments, an earlier-decided increase in healthcare workers' salaries, and a one-off HUF 500,000 per month (€1,408) health-care workers' bonus.
