Background information

The Association of Hotels and Restaurants of Slovakia and Food Chamber of Slovakia agreed to cooperate in transferring redundant employees from hotels and restaurants to the food industry.

The hotels and restaurants were closed or limited their operation and the demand for food products in food industry increased. This measure was set in order to meet higher demand in food industry and to avoid unemployment of employees working in the closed hotels and restaurants with limited operation.

Content of measure

Due to the closure of hotels and restaurants and resulted staff redundancy on one side and a high demand for food products on the other side, the Association of Hotels and Restaurants of Slovakia and the Food Chamber of Slovakia started to cooperate.

The Association and the Chamber help hotel and restaurant employers (posting employer) and food industry employers (user employers) with transfer and with temporary work assignments according to the Labour Law framework. The cooperation is applied through the contract between posting employer and the user employer. Also an agreement between employee and his/her posting employer is signed.

A shared file was created in order to collect information on labour force offer and demand regarding these two sectors.

Use of measure

By 6 April 2020, 18 food industry companies offered approximately 270 vacant positions in total. On the other side, 23 companies from the hotel and restaurant sector offered approximately 350 redundant employees totally.
