Extended right to medical leave and allowances

Factsheet generated on 24 April 2020, 10:50

Country	Romania, applies nationwide
Time period	Temporary, 21 March 2020 - 15 May 2020
Type	Legislation or other statutory regulation
Category	Income support to workers and those laid off – Paid sick leave
Case created	22 April 2020

Background Information

According to the changes brought by EGO 30/2020, for the duration of the Covid-19-related emergency state (21 March - 15 May 2020), the eligibility for the medical leave was extended for those who haven't paid the minimum contributions for the healthcare system (which is generally 6 months). This change entitles every employee to paid quarantine leave (which amounts to 75% of the basic salary) as well as other types of medical leave.

Content of measure

As a preventive measure, EGO no. 30/2020 amended the EGO 158/2005 (which contains regulations concerning medical and quarantine leave and the social insurance benefits), in order to extend the right to paid medical leave for all employees, regardless of the duration of their contribution to the health insurance system. Before the change, EGO158/2005 granted paid medical and quarantine leave only for the employees that had their contribution paid for minimum 6 months. The paid quarantine leave amounts for 75% of the basic salary.

Additionally, the term in which people in quarantine may request payment of medical leave has doubled from 90 to 180 days. These regulations are valid during the period of emergency established by Decree 195/2020 (so far 15 March – 15 May 2020) and are intended to prevent illnesses

Use of measure

Whilst the total number of employees that are on quarantine/medical leave is still not known, approximately 13.000 people were quarantined as of 22 April in Romania. However no data is available concerning their employment status yet.
