Background information

Croatia is highly dependable on tourism, which represent around 18-20% of its GDP. Therefore, the consequences of the coronavirus on Croatian economy should be seen primarily through this economic sector and its spill-over effects on the whole economy. Tourism is very sensitive to safety and health because if tourists do not feel safe, they do not travel. Due to the nature of the Croatian tourism where majority of the guests are coming by private booking with personal cars during the summer season in June and August, it is possible to achieve relatively decent results if the pandemic will last one month.

However, if it will last for two months or more, there could be really harmful consequences for the Croatian tourism and the economy in total. It should be relatively easy to solve the economic consequences of a short duration of the disease. On the other hand, a longer duration of the pandemic situation in Croatia and in Italy, which is one of Croatian most important foreign trade partner and whose citizens traditionally present a significant part of overseas tourists in Croatia, could have seriously adverse outcomes for the Croatian economic growth. This measure is not exclusively related to tourism industry, but one can assess that this industry has been seriously negatively impacted by the crisis.

Content of measure

The support for preservation of jobs in sectors affected by coronavirus is implemented by the Croatian Employment Service by awarding grants as a form of co-financing of wage costs. The Croatian Employment

Service (CES) awards grants to an eligible employer in the amount of HRK 3.250,00 (€434) per month for full-time worker and HRK 1.625,00 (€217) per month for part-time worker. CES also awards a proportional part of the amount of HRK 3,250.00 or HRK 1,625.00 per worker for the time they did not work according to the decision of the Civil Protection Directorate.

The support can be provided to

- a) employers in the following activities: providing accommodation and preparation and serving of food and drinks (Sector I), transportation and storage (Sector H) and health tourism; labour-intensive activities within the manufacturing industry like textiles, clothing, footwear, leather, wood and furniture;
- b) employers who have been banned from performing their business activities by decisions of the Civil Protection Headquarters (national, county, local self-government units) and cannot carry out their activities, and
- c) all other employers who can prove the adverse impact of special circumstances, if their income is reduced by more than 20%.

Since 26 March 2020 all beneficiaries of grants for self-employment (owners and employees), employers who have been registered at the Croatian Pension Insurance Institute by 29 February 2020 and all workers employed until 29 February 2020 have also been included.

The support cannot be granted if there has been a decrease in the number of employees in the period from 20 March 2020 until the date of submission of the Grant Application, if the percentage of dismissal is greater than:

- 40 % for employers employing up to 10 workers;
- 20 % for small businesses; 1
- 5 % for medium-sized enterprises and
- 10 % for large companies.

The aforementioned amount of the grant - HRK 3,250 or HRK 1,625 per worker - is applied for March 2020, while for April and May 2020 it will be increased per worker monthly to HRK 4,000 (€ 534) for full-time job or HRK 2,625 (€ 267) for part-time job. The state will also cover also payment of social contributions, which amounts to HRK 1,460 (€ 194) for a net wage of HRK 4,000. In total, the state will pay HRK 5,460 (€ 728) per employee.

Use of measure

At the end of March, around 65,000 employers with around 400,000 thousand workers were registered as users of the scheme at the CES.
